Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Thursday 04 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Further rain and snow on Friday. Becoming drier in west.

This Evening and Tonight:
Rain, sleet or snow will be heavy and persistent this evening, especially in the east. Generally falling as rain through the Central Belt southwards. Cold with strong easterly winds.

Friday:
Further outbreaks of rain, sleet or snow. Some disruptive snowfall possible over inland areas in the north. Feeling bitterly cold with strong easterly winds.

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
A bitterly cold easterly wind will bring snow showers into eastern and central parts. Plenty of dry weather in the west.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.